Mission 3b

Even after reaching `40` layers, the hyper-frequency resonators are still screaming that there is more data to be collected below. It seems that you have to dig until the final layer of the hyper-sonar scanned results. What is the muplex if you consider all of the layers?